Every week we have a number of people call our office asking how to operate a split system, ducted air conditioning or central gas heater. Our technicians visit site on service calls only to find the problem is the end user doesn't know how to run their air conditioner or heating system.

To save the user valuable time, and in many cases money, we have developed the information section of our website : <http://www.ampleair.com.au/air-conditioning/Information/>

We have common FAQ's, General Air Conditioning and Heating Information as well as Operating Manuals to a number of popular Heating and Cooling Systems.
