

Finding a reliable Air Conditioning Company - ACDA - Ample Air Conditioning

Written by Administrator
Thursday, 10 April 2008 20:00

Many of us know how hard it is to find a good tradesmen, with Air Conditioning you still can find unreliable companies, and when investing thousands of dollars in a system you want to be certain you have made the right choice!

Ample Air are a member of the Air Conditioning Dealer Association, ACDA . The ACDA consists of specialist contractors committed to providing air conditioning systems to suit the needs of their clients in a professional, courteous manner that makes them leaders in the industry.

Should you ever be uncertain of a members work, their website has detailed information on installation standards as well as ways to resolve any disputes.

On top of the contractors own warranties and guarantees the ACDA also offer a gurantee, should an A.C.D.A. member fail to complete or install the product to A.C.D.A. Standards, the Air Conditioning Dealer Association will engage the services of a Chartered Engineer to investigate, report and advise the client of any defects or shortcomings of their installation.

Be safe, be comfortable you have made the right choice and enjoy your long term investment, allways purchase your Air Conditioning Solution through an ACDA member.

Visit the Air Conditioning Dealer Association, ACDA website